

Building your site with SEO in mind

Creating search engine friendly website content

The bulk of what a search engine can see in a website is its written content (as opposed to images etc.). If you want the search engines to like your site, and send you visitors, your site has to have a good deal of written content.

Keeping pages topic focused

When you start to develop a page for your website consider the page's main focus and take a look at your list of keywords - what keyword(s) best describes what's on that page?

There are some areas of a web page that are important and will "call out" to the search engines what the main topic of the page is. A good plan when creating a page is to keep it topic focused by integrating your keywords into different places such as the:

- Page Title
- Description
- Keywords
- Headers
- Special formatting such as bolding or italicizing
- Throughout the written content
- In text links

Writing title, description and keywords tags

Each of these meta tags; title, description and keywords tags, can be added to your site by clicking on Page > Page Properties > Metadata.

- The area labeled Page Title is where you put your title tag. Your page title tag should include the main keyword or concept of your page, your business or website name and, if relevant, your location and should be under 70 characters long. Here's a basic example:

Fine Gold Jewelry | ABC Jewel Company | My Town, Texas

- The area labeled Description is where you put your description tag. Your description tag should include the main keywords for the page and the name of your company and, if relevant, the location. It should be under 200 characters long and should entice visitors to click through to your site. Here's a basic example:

ABC Jewel Company provides customers in and around My Town, Texas with the finest yellow and white gold jewelry imported directly from Italy. Stop in today!

- The area labeled Keywords is where you will put in the main keywords for the page. Don't stuff keywords, only list keywords that apply to the content of the page. Here is a basic example:

fine gold jewelry, gold jewelry, white gold jewelry, ABC Jewel Company, My Town Texas, TX

Incorporating keywords into content

When you write page content, the keywords should blend in naturally - don't overdo the usage of keywords, or the search engines will ignore the pages. Internet content should be easy for the reader to scan or read through. You can create this effect with:

- Short paragraphs.
- Logical page breaks utilizing headings and subheadings.
- Bullet pointed and numbered lists.
- Bolding or italicizing (more useful for search engine optimization than optimum readership, don't overdo).
- Creating keyword rich text links.

Here is a short example using ABC Jewel Company's webpage about fine gold jewelry. Note where the keyword "fine gold jewelry" is used.

Giving images alternative text

Search engines cannot "see" graphics, they read text. You can help the search engines "see" the topic of your graphics by giving them something called an "alternate attribute" or "alternate text".

If you added the picture using the Picture Widget, you can add alt text as follows:

1. Click on the Picture Widget in your page
2. Click on "Edit" at the top of your Picture Widget.
3. Under "Alternative Text", enter your description in the box provided.
4. Click "Save" to add the description to your image.

You can add alt text for pictures added with the Text Widget.

1. Click on the picture in your Text Widget.
2. On the Text Editing Toolbar, click on the cogwheel icon (which is next to your Float options).
3. A dialog box will open up allowing you to type in the alternative text desired for your image.
4. Click "OK".

Creating search engine friendly hyperlinks

Search engines follow text links through a site and they also note what text is used. Putting your keyword into a text link further enhances the keywords relevance on your page. To create a keyword rich text link use these instructions:

1. Highlight the words you want to be the link.
2. Click on the "Insert Link" icon in the Text Editing Toolbar.
3. Choose where you will be linking to.
4. Click "OK".
